

band of confusion

SZANDOR VINCENT SCHARSICH - GUITAR & VOCALS

LUITZ ADOMCIT - BASS GUITAR

WILLI HARTMANN - DRUMS

Band of Confusion from Kirchardt, Germany, were probably the finest Kraichgau underground psychedelic bluesrock band from the 80s.

The group was pretty much influenced by The Jimi Hendrix Experience and their line-up as a trio around singer and guitar wizard Szandor Vincent Scharich was quite similar. Though they never claimed to be a Hendrix tribute band, they often improvised on Hendrix tunes.

In 1986 they released a demo tape with three live recordings. The tape had a xeroxed cover with a collage from photos of the band members, that was also used for the cover of this reissue. The recordings have been restored by 23rd Peter in 2016 and slightly improved for this release in 2022.

The tracks are:

1. Improvisation on „The thrill has gone“ and the Woodstock instrumental by Jimi Hendrix 5:21 min
2. Out of space 6:31 min
3. Untitled improvisation 8:37 min